The Certum Document Signing Certificate is an advanced digital signature that authenticates a person's or organization's identity. It enables automatic and secure signing of documents and significantly accelerates their exchange both within a company and with its business partners. It supports Adobe, Office and Libra Office file formats.

The certificate meets the highest security standards. It also guarantees Adobe Approved Trust List (AATL) compliance, which enables documents stored in Adobe Document Cloud solutions to be digitally signed using the most trusted digital identifiers.

Choose a solution that your customers and business partners will trust.

With the Certum Document Signing Certificate, you can be confident that:

- the person signing the document confirms their identity,
- the document has not been altered and the data contained therein are protected,
- the date and time the document was authenticated are confirmed with a timestamp.
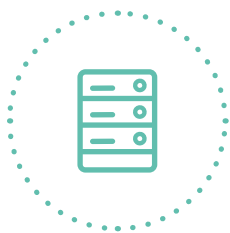

Does your company handle large volumes of documents?

Use the Document Signing Certificate stored on a virtual card. This solution provides you a tool that will allow you to sign dozens of documents within a second:

- from anywhere in the world,
- without using the card,
- with the highest security standards.

How does it work?

The virtual card is stored in an HSM managed by Certum.

Services initiate connection with the virtual card and authenticate the user.
